O World, thou choosest not the better part!
It is not wisdom to be only wise,
And on the inward vision close the eyes,
But it is wisdom to believe the heart.
Columbus found a world and had no chart,
Save one that faith deciphered in the skies;
To trust the soul's invincible surmise
Was all his science and his only art.
Our Knowledge is a torch of smoky pine
That lights the pathway but one step ahead
Across a void of mystery and dread.
Bid, then, the tender light of faith to shine
By which alone the mortal heart is led Unto the thinking of the thought divine.

—G. Santayana.

*P*ROPHETS of old, chastened by the rigours of an elemental civilization, envisioned future triumphs for the sons of Israel. One modern prophet, emboldened by the brave history of Maryville, sees fit to dream great dreams for these, her sons and daughters . . . and on these dreams we build our book.

George Santayana, in his sonnet, O World, has epitomized the trend taken by the theme of this, the 1933 Chilhowean. On this poem has been placed the burden of elucidation which may be required by the inaudibilities of the artist's brush.

DEDICATION

MARYVILLE'S glass has been running for more than a century—quite a space when considered in relation to a human life, but a mere pinch of sand when we think of the towering years ensured the College by the foresightedness of her founders. Those who tread the ways which they have paved will pass on, leaving the imprint of their labors on the growing whole. It is to the youth of today who will comprise the Maryville of tomorrow, to the generations yet unborn who will carry on our work on College Hill; to the race of men and women who will strive incessantly to the end of a richer, fuller, Maryville; to the Maryville of the future, then, we dedicate this book. May they build as courageously and wisely as have their predecessors; may their works live as long and circulate as widely as have those of the men who planted the seed which makes our sowing and reaping possible.

BAINONIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Each year sees Bainonian another step further along the way toward her acme. The past year, her fifty-eighth, has been no exception to this statement. Her ideals of congeniality and fellowship have been emblazoned on her banner in even truer colors than ever before, and her members have made individual records that are a credit to her name.

Bainonians have always been in the midst of the essential extra-curricular activities on College Hill. Journalism, forensics, athletics, all phases of college life at Maryville are sure to form havens for the energies of Bainonian leaders.

So-called progress may be made, and so-called victories may be won, but the enduring qualities which have contributed to make Bainonian a determining factor in Maryville student life are durable, have already attained greatness.

ATHENIAN LITERARY SOCIETY

Athenian, when founded, was a pioneer project; and her sons are today proud of the fact that she continues to pioneer in all phases of student participation. Being the eldest of the four societies, Athenian possesses that joyous dignity which can only become the property of an old institution.

Athenians realize that having one's name on the roster is equivalent to a solemn pledge to so conduct one's affairs as to be an asset to the society as a whole. This realization is a great factor in the group's being recognized to the school as a whole.

Names of Athenian members are to be found at the very head of most collegiate undertakings. The presidents of the Senior Class, the Junior Class, the Y.M.C.A. and the Student Council are members of Athenian. The editors of both student publications are also on the Athenian list of members.

Membership in Athenian constitutes a memory that will linger fondly in the man's mind through the years.

Although Alpha Sigma has not been in existence as long as some of the other societies, its youth does not hinder it from taking a prominent place in the activities of the Campus. The spirit of comradeship which pervades the meetings and other functions of the society is such as to breed a fondness for the group which will not easily be lost.

Alpha Sigma's members have reached out and assumed responsible positions in all aspects of college life. Dramatics, athletics, forensics, academic works, none of these are neglected in the composite accomplishments of the individual members of the Society. A worthwhile contribution from the society to the school the past year was the Alpha Sigma orchestra, which carved quite a name for itself in local circles.

The vigor of every task to which Alpha Sigma set itself is a factor which will go far in making it a controlling influence on the Hill.

As a moulder of student activities, Theta has gone far. Her daughters are among the real leaders on the campus; this is due, no doubt, to the aggressive, talented individuals who band together in Theta, and to the whole-hearted co-operation which is found among the members.

Theta's outstanding contribution for 1933 has been the presentation of the "Enchanted April," the prize-winning mid-winter. Wise casting, able direction, an apt production and excellent stage-managing combined to make this play truly worthy of the mid-winter cup.

Not alone in dramatics does Theta have able representation. Names of her members are to be found on the Honor Roll, and in practically all of the collegiate activities. Theta can boast of having in its midst the May Queen, many class officers, and some of the ablest speakers and writers on the campus.

Theta will prosper!

RELIGION

THE Y. M. C. A.

As everyone who will pause to read this page knows, the Y.M.C.A. devotes itself to a threefold field, the components of which are the Physical, Mental and Spiritual aspects of life. The 1933 organization of the "Y" has faithfully and efficiently devoted itself to these aspects. Its sports program has been more extensive than ever before, and as excellently supervised as any in the history of the "Y". The Lyceum numbers have been the wonder and delight of the entire student body. And Spiritual activity, most apparent in the Sunday meetings but carrying further into the welfare work of the community, has had the best of leadership. From the first day of the Fall Retreat, labor has steadily been the keynote in the effort to better the conditions of the Maryville Y.M.C.A. The student body owes the officers of the "Y" a debt greater than it realizes. Foremost among the officers, as well as foremost among the students of the College, is Al Duff. His praises cannot be sung too highly by a Maryvillian. As a tribute to his industry, Bartlett Hall stands, as presentable a building as the College boasts, brought to such a state from almost barn-like deterioration. The Sunday meetings have assumed an interest unseen on the Campus for several years; and "Doc's" work in local welfare circles has made him admired by all with whom he labors. But not only in home affairs is his ability and zeal recognized; his efforts in the behalf of his own Alma Mater have brought favorable attention to him from state Y.M.C.A. organizations. For the past year he has been a member of the State Y.M.C.A. Executive Committee and of the State Council. He has also held the chairmanship of the Committee on Christian World Education for this section. His qualities are best summed up in a statement recently made by the State Y.M.C.A. secretary which declared Duff to be an "ideal college Y.M.C.A. president."

It is only fitting with the theme of this book that we leave a challenge, even an admonition, to future "Y" executives to "carry on" where Al Duff has left off.

The year's activities of the Group have been the following: Reorganization of a Student Volunteer Library and of a Bible study class; the enlarging of the work of the Student Volunteer World News Bulletin; and the presentation of weekly programs.

These programs have included talks by returned missionaries, group discussions on critical topics, inspirational talks by students and visitors, the presenting of practical mission problems through letters from Maryville missionaries now in the field, personal testimony and prayer.

The Maryville Group was hostess for the annual conference of the Tennessee Student Volunteer Union. Powerful evangelistic challenges to mission work were presented in connection with the theme, "What Is the True Purpose of Missions?" The Maryville Group is honored by having a Maryvillian, Elizabeth Gillis, as Union President. She will represent Tennessee at the General Council of the Student Volunteer Movement in New Jersey this summer.

Organized primarily for candidates for the ministry of Christ, the Association, during the current year, has maintained an intensive program emphasizing those issues vital to ministers. The effort has been made in the weekly meetings to stress the importance to ministers of such matters as personal identification with the will of God in Christ, the knowledge and proclamation of the pure gospel of grace, the proper conduct of public worship, the knowledge and practice of parliamentary law, and familiarity with Greek, Hebrew, Biblical orientalisms, doctrine, church history, missions, and the like.

Pastoral and preaching work in the county prison, the county almshouse, the McGhee Street chapel, and the country churches of the vicinity, has continued with ever-increasing effectiveness.

A more restrictive membership, one of the new features added during the year, is a plan which is working in conjunction with an effort to make felt on the campus the influence of the Association for spiritual good.

COACH THROWER

COACH HONAKER

At the outset of the 1933 football season Coaches Honaker and Thrower were very pessimistic, and rightly so, for they were confronted with the problem of replacing seven lettermen who had been lost by graduation. Prospects were brightened somewhat by the return of several former linemen, but it was with much misgiving that the squad embarked on the perilous schedule for 1933.

Although nearly everyone was well aware of the stupendous task faced by the Maryville coaches, it was disappointing to the Highlander supporters when the Scots were defeated by a small, but clever, team from Hiwassee. The game, held on Wilson Field, was an exhibition of loose playing, but as no marked superiority was shown by either team the result was uncertain until the last quarter when Hiwassee made the final score 12-7.

The next game furnished the spectators with a situation in complete reversal of the first contest. The Scotties were opposed by the Murfreesboro State Teachers College, which outweighed them several pounds per man; on the preceding Saturday the Pedagogues had held a powerful Sewanee team to a two-touchdown victory. Playing as underdogs, the Scots gave an unexpected display of brilliancy in both backfield and line and, as a result, came from the field as victorious by virtue of a 12-0 score.

Once again proving that it is the underdog that bites, the Orange and Garnet machine went out on Wilson Field and functioned so smoothly that a grand total of twenty-five points was amassed against the Tennessee-Wesleyan Bulldogs. Not only did the Highlanders hold the favorites scoreless, but scored a touchdown in each quarter, just to prove it could be done.

Just as all loyal Maryvillians were beginning to breathe easily as a result of the two consecutive victories, their hopes were again severely shaken by a defeat on foreign soil; the Tusculum gridders were able to emerge victors over the Scots by the score of 7-0. Once more Coach Honaker seemed to have grounds for his pre-season pessimism.

With the Tusculum defeat overshadowing their spirits, it was with uncertainty that Maryville fans flocked to Wilson Field to witness the game with the Tornado from King. Playing an inspired game, the visitors swept the home boys off their feet and the contest ended with King on the long end of a 20-0 score. The only ray of encouragement for the Maryville supporters was the excellent back-field running with almost no interference to aid the ball carriers.

Once each season comes the supreme test of the manhood and sportsmanship of the Maryville football team. At that time a small, but determined, squad, opposes a team vastly superior in every respect. The sportsmanship of the Highlanders in the face of certain defeat has won the praise of sports writers for many years. This year the powerful University of Tennessee eleven, later co-champions of the Southern Conference, swept the Maryville team before it to win, 60-0.

After a week of rest following the disastrous U.T. encounter, the Orange and Garnet warriors once more sallied forth to do combat with the traditional foe, Milligan.

The vacation must have been a miracle cure, as the Scotties kept the Buffaloes running about the field until they were bewildered to the tune of a 34-0 lacing.

Armistice Day saw the fighting Maryville eleven go down before the attack of a smooth football combination from Lenoir-Rhyne. The final score of 25-14 was mainly due to the crumbling of the Scot defense in the last quarter, when the invaders marked up two touchdowns to capture the laurels.

Acting as a soothing salve to a season filled with heartbreaking losses was the closing game with Appalachian Teachers. The play of the Scots on that day, in spite of a sea of mud, was a thrilling climax to a dull season. Rising to a first-class brand of football, the Highlanders turned the heavier, older team back by the score of 12-0.

The track season of 1932 was one of the most successful in Maryville track history. Since it is necessary to take one first or two second places in one meet to win the coveted wings, the prowess of the Orange and Garnet is verified not only by the scores, but by the fact that fourteen men were awarded their letters.

Coach Thrower may always be relied on to make the most of his track material, but critics agree that his 1932 team was nothing short of a masterpiece.
